

The Role of National Courts in International Arbitration

An Irish-American dialogue on the role of courts in arbitration featuring major judicial figures and leading practitioners from Ireland and the U.S.

---

June 11, 2015
5:00 pm - 7:00 pm

---

The New York International Arbitration Center (NYIAC) and Arbitration Ireland invite you to attend a joint program to be held on June 11, 2015.

Distinguished speakers will address issues related to the role of national courts in international arbitration:

Mr. Justice Brian McGovern, the judge in charge of all international arbitration related matters in Ireland.

Justice Charles E. Ramos, who handles all international arbitration cases before the Commercial Division, New York County.

Richard Holwell, Southern District Judge (retired) and arbitrator.

The panel discussion will be moderated by Michael Collins SC (Ireland) and Ed Kehoe from King & Spalding (US).

The event, which will take place from 5:00 p.m. through 7:00 p.m. on June 11, 2015, and will be followed by a reception, is being hosted by Skadden Arps.

Location

Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP
Four Times Square (at 42nd St. and Broadway)
New York, NY 10036

RSVP

By e-mail to:
rsvp@nyiac.org

arbitrationireland
The Irish Arbitration Association

NYIAC | New York International Arbitration Center